Arrangement of the Catalogue

Column One identifies the main subject. This ususally in three parts. 1: main heading eg B is streets, Y villages ; 2: specific topic eg B.Pet : Petty Cury, Y.Had : Haddenahm . 3: a date with J representing 1800, K 1900 and L2000 ; K2 is the 1920s, K22 is 1922. There may also be an accession number eg 6688 which can be ignored.

Column Two: Scans : Column one usually includes a reference to a scan of the image. These are arranged within Albums; thus 16.32 indicates Album 16, no.32.

The scans are online at Google Photos. Album 01-199 https://photos.app.goo.gl/JpSUwUy5cFdQJx1q9
Albums 200-299 https://photos.app.goo.gl/CVkH8YnnZnJFHvpJ6

Column Three additional subjects - eg a bus in a Street, a windmill in a village.

Column Four idescribes the image; notes in "…" records wording on the picture

Column Five identifies transparencies or original pictures in my files.

This is my working catalogue and is constantly amended and updated. I claim no copyright and grant no permission to reproduce any of the item listed..

They closed in 1981 due to increased rents, and changing times : the previous year they had sold just 6 gowns as colleges now bought their own supplies, and the number of formal functions had decreased. Nearby Joshua Taylor made a large proportion of the robes worn in universities, councils and courts throughout Britain and the Commonwealth. In 1965 they produced the coronation robes for the King and Queen of Tonga, here modelled by Norman Douglas who, not having the stature of the King, was actually standing on a box! When he started, at one shilling per week as an apprentice, he had to wear a clean collar and clean shoes to work every day – otherwise there would have been trouble from his employer. The work then was much heavier: large horses and agricultural harnesses were commonplace. Now light pony harnesses and stacks and stacks of suitcases are his lot. He operates his firm – the only pure saddlers left in Cambridge – with his son and finds there is ample work to carry them through the day. PC.Sug.K63	60.325		Dominating the skyline to the north was the Ely Sugar Beet Factory established in 1925. A bumper crop is expected at Ely sugar beet factory this season where staff are preparing to process more than half a million tons of beet. The 200 shift workers and 140 day workers expect to make over 62,000 tons of sugar during the next four months. Unlike most of the other sugar factories Ely does not produce the finished product, but sends over 500 tons of raw sugar daily in bulk to other factories or refineries. Farmers, mainly in the cattle-rearing areas, take most of the 40,000 tons of molassed pulp produced in an average season. News September 1963 neg Y1367

Before that it had acted as a multi-functional venue for dances, wrestling matches and roller skating, as here in October 1974. The News for May 1970 reported as many as 200 young people regularly crowded into the Corn Exchange to take advantage of evening skating sessions. At 2s. (10p) skating was cheaper than the cinema and besides there was “nowhere to go on Monday”. Roller skating stopped at the Corn exchange in April 1982 and continued at the Kelsey Kerridge sports hall. But by then the youngsters were into skateboarding, with a skateboard park opening at Cheddar’s Lane in 1978, and closing the next year.	1422 P398

The trunk was over four feet wide and weighed over eight tons. It was cut into four sections before being removed by tractor to Turpin's woodyard in Cambridge where it will be cut and dried. It will then be used to make specimen items of Old English joinery. Only once before has bog oak been used in this way and the experiment was not very successful. 56 02 08.18b	849 P999

In the morning she inspected the Officers' Quarters, the Nurses' Training School where she spoke to student nurses, and Airmen's Dining Room before lunching in the Officers' Mess & touring the wards. News 23rd April 1963 neg Z7827 The Princess Royal, as Air Chief Commandant of the Princess Mary's RAF Nursing Service, opened the new Outpatients Department at the Ely RAF Hospital. She inspected the Nurse Officers' quarters, the Training Scholl and the Airmen's Dining Room before lunching in the Officers' Mess and unveiling a plaque. Later she toured some of the wards and went to the Red Cross Library where the wives of five senior NCOs were presented. 63 04 23

WH.Ely.K68	59.135		The hospital had been founded in a former convalescent home at Littleport in September 1939 and moved to Ely the following year. In April 1968 the News reported: At one minute past midnight Ely RAF Hospital became a station of Strike Command, the RAF's new principal front-line organisation. To mark the birth of the new structure there was a colour-hoisting parade at the hospital today. Strike command has been created by the merger of Fighter Commands to which the hospital belonged and Bomber Command, both of which were formed in July 1936. The salute was taken by the Commanding Officer, group Captain T.N.N. Brennan News 30 Apr 1968 neg 6267/P/4a

Y.Dow.K68	60.353	WM.Dow.K68	St Owens church, Third Drove: A tiny wooden church in the Fens has not been used for a year because nobody lives near it. Now the Rector, Rev Martin Suter, thinks the 73-year-old building - St Owen's church, Third Drove, Little Downham – ought to be sold. St Owen's was intended as a temporary church when it was built in 1895 and used as a school until about 1963. At one time there were over 80 children attending but owing to the decline in agriculture the population moved from the droves and by 1969 there were less than a dozen children in the area. The church was closed, the majority of the furnishings, including the altar removed to a little chapel at the back of Downham church, called St Owen's chapel in its memory. Y.Dow.K76	59.56	WLS.Dow.K76	In August 1976 villagers turned out as signs proclaiming Little Downham as the best kept village in Cambridgeshire were unveiled. The parish council chairman, Mr Alan White said: "I'm very pleased that we came out on top but I don't know how we did it". The Fairhaven award for the best-kept village in Cambridgeshire was unveiled by Lord Fairhaven, whose uncle gave the sign about 20 years ago at the start of the county competition. He said he had visited the village before making the presentation and had been impressed by the works of councillors, voluntary helpers and individual householders. Most of the residents' gardens which he saw were, we said "immaculate and a blaze of colour – a difficult thing to achieve in present conditions. News 24th August 1976 neg 2516.76.18

Y.Dow.K76	60.355	WG.Dow.K76	Little Downham villagers demolished their old school: villagers were busy at the weekend knocking down the old infants' school in Eagles Lane in an attempt to raise between £700 and £800 from the sale of the bricks. The money will go to the Little Downham pavilion fund. About £7,000 is needed to build a new sports pavilion on the recreation ground. The school was given to the fund by the Feofees, the village charity trustees, who want the land for allotments. In return for demolishing the building, the fund is being allowed to sell the hand-made bricks and slates. A member of the fund's steering committee, Mr Michael Cornwell said the demolition would take about a month and any villager wishing to help at weekends would be most welcome. Y.Dow.K83	59.67	W.69.K83	Work on the church bells was undertaken in 1983: Restoration work on St Leonard's church at Little Downham has begun with workmen taking the bells out of the tower. Two men from Whitechapel Bell Foundry, London, removed the four bells – the smallest weighing five hundredweight and the largest seven-and-a-quarter hundredweight – from their mountings and gently lowered them the 30ft from the bell tower. The bells, two of which are dated 1659, the third 1702 and the other 1784, are being sent to the foundry for retuning – a job which will cost about £3,500. The rector, the Rev John Hodder explained that it represented phase one of the restoration work. Now that the bells have been taken out stonemasons will repair the crumbling tower to strengthen it before they are replaced. The whole project would cost about £10,000 to complete News 20th April 1983 neg 1507.83.9

Y.Ely.K65	60.383	WIQ.Ely.K65	Broad Street car park opening. One of the city's attractions for shoppers has been the availability of free parking. A large car park off Broad Street opened in 1965. After opening Ely Urban Council's new £14,745 car park at the rear of Fore Hill, the chairman, Mrs B.O. Jefferson Smith, was driven round it in a 1925 Bullnose Morris Cowley. With her were the two other women councillors, Mrs E.M. Vinith-Williams, chairman of the Works Committee, and Mrs E.B. Cross. The car, owned by T.H. Nice and & Co. Ltd., was driven from their Ely show rooms by Mr J.P. Stow, a director of the firm and manager at Ely. Mrs Jefferson Smith appealed to local motorists not to park in the streets all day but to use the new facilities and leave the short-stay car parks for visitors and shoppers from surrounding districts.The car park provides 107 spaces. The entrance is in Broad Street but a footpath connects with the top of Fore Hill and the city centre. News 15th March 1965 neg 8438B

They enjoyed an afternoon of fun and entertainment including raft racing, a parade of floats, display by the Pathfinders Alsatian dog team, music from the City of Ely Military Band and disco dancing. Dozens of local clubs, charities and societies set up their own fund-raising stalls on the banks of the Ouse for the event, which was opened by the Mayor of Ely, Coun Ron Meadows. Organiser Myles Moffat said: "It's always difficult to estimate how many people attended, but we think we had 8,000-10,000. It was a great success, the weather was perfect for the event. Y.Ely.K88	59.229 *		In March 1988 the Cathedral's restoration appeal received a £3,000 boost from Kries Viersen, Cambridgeshire's twin region in West Germany. The donation, given as part of celebrations to mark the fifth anniversary of the twinning link, was handed over to the Dean, the Very Rev Bill Patterson after a special evensong. The Dean said the cash would be used to help restore the east wall and the visitors were shown where work is to be done. He said the appeal fund now stood at £4,045,000 with an additional £70,000 in the 21st Century fund, set up to finance regular maintenance once restoration is completed. Now shoppers can wander through The Cloisters following its official opening and take a short cut through to Waitrose, but despite the red ribbon being cut, it will be at least two weeks before the first shop opened. Jon Higham, property manager for Aardvark Developments and Valerie Leake, vice chairman of East Cambridgeshire District Council, congratulated everyone involved in the scheme before declaring The Cloisters open for business. Mrs Leake said: "It is a splendid development which will breathe life into the city centre". Peacocks Stores will be the first shop to open in the 67,000 square foot complex. It is hoped Sportsworld and Card Fair will be open for Christmas trading. Wilkinsons, Iceland and Savers Health & Beauty will be open early next year, along with the new library. Four of the ten units still have not been let, but the developers believe the centre will be full by the middle of next year. News 2nd November 1999 neg 4409.99.22

Y.Fri.K3	14130 86.571		Well End and post office: That photo of Well End brought back many memories since it is where I spent much of my childhood. I can name the residents along the right side of the street from Fisks grocers shop., the post Office (Jack Bardell), Arthur Vurley's bakery, the Bridge Inn pub (Phlip Ward) with the 2 x 4 chimneys and then a disused chapel (Methodist or Wesleyan ? - there was another Chapel on the Back Road next to the Chequers Inn.) The big house at the far end of the street in the photo with four windows was directly opposite my home. It was occupied by the Gamble family, the daughter Janet was about my age I think. The road bent to the right at that point so my own home Norman House is hidden but I suspect that the tops of the two chimneys that just show on the far right might be Norman House. And who might be the group of people walking down the street at the far end - my mother who had been to post a letter???? Possibly . I don't recognise the old car or the number plate - the common number plate letters for the Isle of Ely then were JE. Guess someone buying stamps at the PO opposite. - Ruth & Arthur Loughton <aloughton@kwic.com> 3.2011.

In 1969 four-year old Craig and his brothers began collecting pieces of pottery, which were to form the basis of the Haddenham Farmland Museum, attracting large number of visitors and raising thousands of pounds for charity. They were snapped by the News in 1971. After the boys left home their parents, Mike and Lorna Delanoy continued to expand and display the collection until they decided to call it a day in December 1992. The £500 sign was formally presented to the chairman of the parish council, Mr Bert Wright, by the W.I. President, Mrs Joan Davies. The sign, made by Mr Paul Hillard of King's Lynn, depicts village scenes on one side and the Littleport martyrs on the other. Mrs Davies said she was delighted with the way WI members had rallied round to raise the money for the sign. The fund-raising exceeded the target by about £100 after organising mini auctions, coffee evenings and a continental café at the village show. They believed drivers were now taking it too fast and there had been three accidents in five months. The County said it was not so much the car drivers they were worried about but the big heavy lorries who had difficulties getting round the corner. News 3rd June 1969 neg 12762/P

Y.Mep.K85 59.97		Just outside Mepal an outdoor centre has been created from an old gravel pit: Physical training instructor Jim McCann has a dream of turning the Mepal Outdoor Centre into a top notch activity complex open to everyone – the young, the old, the handicapped and the able-bodied. And gradually his dream is turning into reality – thanks to a bit of ingenuity, some generous cash donations and a lot of volunteer muscle. When Mr McCann of Ely left the Army's Physical Training Corps after 22 years service to run the outdoor centre his friends could not believe it. 'Everyone thought I was mad', he said. 'It was run down. It was crying out for investment. But when a place is down there's only one way it can go – and that's up'. Indeed the centre, part of a 30-acre former gravel pit site brought by Cambridgeshire County Council more than a decade before, had been through a traumatic time. It had been used by schools, youth and community organisations to teach the basics of sailing and canoeing. But in 1982 the county decided to close it because it was too costly to run. East Cambridgeshire District Council stepped in and it won support from Fenland, Cambridge City and South Cambridgeshire district councils who agreed to underwrite any financial losses. Y.Mep.K85 60.312	WB.Mep.K85	Mepal bypass opening: The traffic problem was solved with the opening of a new bypass in November 1985, though the route chosen was opposed by villagers who felt it would turn the village into a cul-de-sac. The £3 million by-pass for Mepal was opened officially with a blessing. After the Chairman of the County Council, Coun Keith Leonard had cut the tape, the Bishop of Huntingdon, the Rt Rev Gordon Roe, dedicated the new 2.4 kilometre single carriageway road. The main feature of the by-pass is the 23 span viaduct and bridge which carries the A142 over the Old and New Bedford Rivers and washlands between. There was no official opening but was dedicated in September 1966 as purely a local affair for villagers. The new building catered for 60 children, & had three classrooms. You can hire dinghies, windsurfs and canoes and there are children's courses on offer including multi-activity days and circus skills. As well as a new car and caravan park, leisure room and catering facilities the centre also has two rock-climbing walls. Stuart Hammond, who has run The Three Pickerels with his wife Margaret, for six years, asked for tourist signs to his pub. Cambridgeshire County Council offered to put up a sign in Mepal – but he said the only people who would see it already knew where the pub was. "There is a shortage of bed and breakfast accommodation, and we have four rooms", he said. Prickwillow, the village that doesn't want to be a "Botany Bay for Ely" called on Ely Urban Council to demand a "full and complete public apology" for what they consider a slur at a meeting attended by between 80 and 90 people. Mrs Lilian Rice, the Women's Institute president said: We have resented the implication that Prickwillow was the place where people should go who would not pay". Mr Keith Stacey said he was fighting for the principle of not wanting the village to be slurred. The village shopkeeper, Mr Clifford Butcher, called it "a most deplorable situation brought about by an absolutely stupid suggestion". Said Mrs Frances Bourne: "This is a happy and friendly village". Y.Pri.K68	59.41	WO.Pri.K68	Waggon & Horses closes, Prickwillow: The Waggon and Horses, the last remaining pub in Prickwillow, closed last night, leaving locals with no pub within four miles of the village. The brewery who own the pub, Steward & Patteson (Ely) Ltd, part of the Watney Mann group, said the pub is being closed on economic grounds because there is considerable structural failure in the building and it would be uneconomic to restore it. Prickwillow, a village with a population of more than 500, now becomes the fourth village in recent years to be left without the pub – the others being Coveney, Adelaide and Stuntney. And many villagers expressed their disapproval of the closure as they supped their final drinks in the 100-year-old pub. Mr J.T. Chapman, a regular for more than 40 years said: "The feeling of the whole village is that they deplore the closure. It could be a good house if it was altered and done up and is definitely worth the brewery spending money on it. Now they have left us with nowhere local to go with all our friends". Another regular, Mrs Howard Keel, said that there was Hiam's Sports and Social Club in the village, where they could go for a drink. "But it's really for the young people. It's far too noisy for the older people like myself, who like to go and have a game of dominoes and meet our friends". Mr Frank Bowden, licensee for the last 15 years, said there were at least six pubs within a mile or two of Prickwillow only about six years ago. He said: 'I shall be sorry to leave after all this time and none of the locals like the closure. But to be fair to the brewery they must wonder if they spent any money on the pub whether they would get it back. And also they do supply the Hiam's club as well, though it's only open four nights a week and the pop dances will not really attract the older people from here'. Major B.E. Dillon, a director of the brewery, said he thought the hardest hit would be the old age pensioners and those without transport. But he pointed out that there was the licensed social club in the village and public houses within reasonable distance for the many people who had cars. News 29th August 1968

But in those days they were all part-time landlords opening a few hours a day between their other jobs. So what happened to the area's customers? They've gone – mostly to the towns and bigger villages where they can buy a house instead of living on the farmer's land. Three years ago the Railway Tavern was one of the busiest pubs around. Y.Pri.K78	59.63	WIM.Pri.K78	In 1978 Prickwillow villagers called a public meeting to see if they should set up their own parish council. Prickwillow's postmaster Mr Timothy Allen said: "We are very jealous of our identity and some of us feel we are in danger of losing it over the years. We already have a large community of young people so we are quite a going concern. It's got a strong community so a parish council would really be one step further". The village already has a thriving village hall committee on which the local association clubs are represented. It has a voting population of about 400. Traditionally, along with other small communities circling the city it has been incorporated within the urban area.The meeting decided against forming a Parish Council and the Post Office subsequently closed News 15th September 1978. neg 2633.78.10
Y.Pri.K80	60.350		Prickwillow pottery brought a new enterprise into the village, attracting large numbers of visitors: When Margot and Derek Andrews gave up their teaching jobs to set up as potters they gave themselves two years to see if the venture would work. They made it. Not only have the two years passed but this year they celebrate the fifth anniversary of their pottery. They decided to sell their own Edwardian house and use the proceeds to set up a pottery. They looked around for inexpensive premises and found at Prickwillow some disused coal offices and sheds. Buying the premises, doing essential repairs and equipment for the pottery took most of the money they had realised on the sale of their house. At first the Andrews both worked 10 hours a day, seven days a week. A paper loss during the first year was converted into a gross profit three years later. They have relied on the help of two women who work part-time at the pottery, doing all sorts of different tasks from skilfully loading the large kiln to making cups of coffee for visitors. The visitors are something the Andrews never originally anticipated. Most of their orders come from people who have looked round the workshops. A number arrive at Prickwillow on boating holidays. Greater numbers come in groups in the evenings to look round the pottery. They retired in September 1994 News 22nd May 1980 neg 1503.80.13
Y.Pri.K82	59.167	WG.Pri.K82 V.M.K82	The proposed closure of the school was strongly resisted: About 100 Prickwillow villagers waving banners and singing protest songs marched on the village primary school as the latest stage in the campaign to save it from being closed. The march was organised to mark the first day back at school for the village children – who during the long summer holidays learned Cambridgeshire County Council had started the formal consultation process for closing down the school. Pupils would have to travel to schools in Ely. Protesters marched from Old Bank to the school gates led by a tractor and trailer carrying a replica of the 120-year-old school. In the playground one of the protest organisers, Mr Derek Andrews, read letters from Isle of Ely MP, Mr Clement Freud and local county councillor, Mr Dennis Pye. The chairman of the school governors, Canon Neil Munt, said the parochial church council had unanimously passed a resolution deploring the closure plan. "We stand shoulder to shoulder with you all in our determination to stop the closure of the school", he said. The parents are unhappy about letting children of four or five years old go four miles to Ely, which would make their school day longer. One of the most determined people on the march was one of the oldest, 84-year-old Mrs Lily Norman of Kingdon Avenue, who first went to the village school when she was nine. She said firmly: "We are not going to let it close". The opposition was unsuccessful. News 9th September 1982 neg: 3213.82.40	2784
Y.Pri.K82	59.70		Restoration work on the church roof attracted great support: The organisers of the sign-a-tile scheme at Prickwillow Church have had a few embarrassing moments. After inviting people to inscribe their own personal message on roof tiles as a way of raising money for restoration they ran out of tiles. Problems arose because the suppliers of the 5,000 tiles needed to re-roof the nave and porch failed to deliver them on time. Village builder, Mr John Morley, who is to carry out the work had to dash to Chatteris and grab as many as he could. The first tiles were signed by the Mayor of Ely, Coun Mrs Florence Oakey and the Bishop of Ely, the Rt Rev Peter Walker. Another was signed by Miss Lavinia Bidwell of Prickwillow, who gave £1,000 to get the scheme under way. News 5th October 1982 neg 3613.82.23a

Y.Pym.K80	60.351	WLS.Pym.K80	The unveiling of the village sign at Pymoor by Parish councillor Graham Lark caused controversy in May 1980. It was not the carved oak design depicting a dragonfly settling on a bulrush in marshland – a reference to the village name which means 'flies over a bog', nor its position in the centre of the village. The problem was the spelling of the name itself – should it perhaps have been 'Pymore' as some residents believed, and as the sign at the entrance to the village proclaimed. The question was put to the vote in January 1997 when the Parish Council declared that the name on the sign was indeed the correct one. News 29th May 1980 neg 1621.80.13

He used a Super Ikonta camera with a 3.5 tessar lens taking sixteen shots on 120 size film. Mr Lane was at home in Ely when he heard the explosion. At once he went in to see his four-year-old daughter who had been woken by the noise. She told him that she had seen a big light towards Soham. The members of the family thought that the whole incident was a bombing raid. At breakfast time Mr Lane was told about the explosion and left with Mr Frank Wilson, who was the Editor of the 'Ely Standard' in his car As they approached Soham they saw very many people shaking bedclothes out of windows to clear off the dust and damage caused by ceilings falling down and windows breaking. They drove over roads covered in glass. As representatives of the Press they were allowed close to the scene, though no one else, other than rescue workers, was in the vicinity after 8.00am on the 2nd June. When they arrived it appeared that no work had been carried out to fill in the hole or to move the engine. One of Mr Lane's photographs shows the situation when he arrived. The fire at the Gas Works and other fires nearby were out by this time, under control and only smouldering. After taking photographs all around the incident Mr Lane set off to London at 10.00am. He left Soham in a lorry and went to Cambridge. When he found there was no suitable train available he decided to hitch hike. The journey was a difficult one as petrol was severely rationed and vehicles were few and far between. His journey to London took him via Caxton Gibbet and Ware. One van driver helpfully said that he would carry Mr Lane as far as he could until the petrol ran out. Eventually the van came to a stop with the radiator steaming. On reaching the outskirts of London, Mr Lane continued his journey by underground train. About 4.00pm he arrived in Fleet Street having had nothing to eat at all.He went straight to the offices of the 'Daily Express' where they were surprised and pleased to welcome him. He had to wait around until the censor could be found to pass the photographs as suitable for publication and not revealing secrets of value to the enemy. The 'Daily Express' had despatched their own photographer who was able to return with a photograph of the crater filled in by 5.00pm. When asked what he wanted for his photographs, the first thing Mr. Lane thought of was to telephone his wife and the second thing was to ask for new film, since films were very scarce at the time.	1039

Now, just 24 years after he joined the police force as a war reservist, P.C. Lythell is retiring. He was called for duty one September morning in 1939 and only a matter of hours later, found himself in uniform, pacing the streets of Ely. Five years later he was transferred 'home' to Stretham where he had to overcome his initial reluctance at representing the law in a place where everybody was his friend. One of the few members of the Ely Constabulary who still rides a pedal cycle on duty, P.C. Lythell says he has thoroughly enjoyed his work. The scheme is expected to be completed in 15 months. The scheme, which has been designed by Cambridgeshire's County Surveyor, Mr Robert Lacey, will cut out the present sharp bend in the road where it crosses the River Ouse. It will involve diverting the road to the west from points about 250 yards either side of the present bridge. A new bridge will be built where the river joins Chear Lode. A statement issued by the Department of the Environment says the present bridge is deteriorating and the bend on the approach to the bridge restricts visibility and is a potential hazard to traffic and pedestrians. In the past a number of accidents, including at least one fatal, have occurred at or near the bridge. When the diversion is complete the existing road and bridge will be kept as a service road for the riverside and the public house at the bridge.News 23rd July 1975 neg: 2029/75/10 The new road opened in August 1976, five months ahead of schedule.

Y.Stu.K66 60.373	WO.Stu.K66	Like other small communities they have lost many of their facilities: Stuntney – adult population about 150 and once the possessor of two public houses – has become a village without a pub. When Mr Victor McGee, licensee of the Anchor Inn, shut the doors last night, he was doing so for the last time. The tenancy has been in his family for 50 years. The owners, Steward & Patteson Ltd of Ely, have decided that it would not pay to repair a "very old property that has outlived its time". Last week a petition signed by over 60 villagers headed by the vicar, Canon John P. Pelloe and Mr David Morbey, a farm company director, urged the brewery to reconsider their decision. Yesterday one of the directors, Major B.E. Dillon said the board had considered the petition sympathetically but could not in the present economic circumstances, change their policy. Y.Sut.K84	59.131	WLS.Sut.K84	The church was the obvious choice for the village sign, as the News reported in November 1984: Sutton Women's Institute's oldest serving member unveiled the new village sign as part of the diamond jubilee celebrations of the WI in the village. Seventy-nine-year-old Mrs Ivy Blinch revealed the £500 sign to the villagers and chairman of the Parish Council Coun Philip Read, at the green opposite the village school. The double-sided sign, which was made by Mr Paul Hillard of King's Lynn, features a portrait of St Andrew's Church with a horse and haycart on one side, and a scene of Sutton Gault at sunset on the other. It had been originally intended to position the sign on the roundabout outside the Brook House pub, but when the county council said the road layout was going to be altered the alternative position opposite the school was chosen. The eight-foot high sign was set in place by employees of Darby's of Sutton, who supplied the brick base and labour free of charge. At the unveiling are (left to right), Ivy Blinch, Council chairman Philip Read and WI members Mrs Janet Townsin (secretary), Mrs Glenice Evans (president) & Mrs May Rickard News 15th November 1984 neg: 5420.84.5	3362

Y.Swav.K2 168.83	WO.Swav.K2	In 1925 Robert & Ellen Cannel were the tenants of the New Inn. On sunny days tables and chairs were placed outside where customers could sit and watch vehicles go by. On the end of the house was a pump. Policemen were not allowed to drink in public houses whilst on duty, so the local policeman had an arrangement with Mrs Cannell. She use to hide a bottle of beer in the pump, and when he cycled by he would take the lid off the top of the pump - take out the bottle he had ordered, and continue on his beat.
Y.Swav.K2 168.87	WO.Swav.K2	Swavesey High Street about 1925 shows the Sir Harry Smith P.H. had become the Post Office. Next door is a butcher's shop used by Hepher Bros. In the distance, the Rising Sun P.H. has the Bailey & Tebbit, sign on the end of the house. Opposite is a row of eight labourer's cottages built by Mr John Dodson. John is said to have had them built with no front doors, so that when he travelled down the High Street in his trap, he would not have to pass labourer's wives gossiping on the doorsteps.

Y.The.K69	59.105		Sixty-five year old Mr Albert Cox owner of Little Thetford General Stores does not want to leave Little Thetford when he retires from his shop business, so he plans to apply for planning permission to convert the Roundhouse. “I would like to retire as soon as possible and thought it would be rather nice to convert the old roundhouse. It used to be lived in up to about 10 years ago, but now it is becoming a bit of an eyesore”. Mr Cox plans to have a living area and kitchen on the ground floor and two bedrooms and a bathroom on the upper floor with a spiral staircase joining the two. The cost of conversion is estimated at about £2,5000. The building was subsequently restored and Mr & Mrs Cox moved in in June 1971 News 8th July 1969 neg 13265/P/9
Y.The.K70	59.106	WO.The.K70	It has been modernised and improved, with a new Marina constructed in 1970: The cost of the marina planned for the Fish & Duck Inn at Little Thetford will run into thousands of pounds, said the owner Mr Albert Cedar. As well as providing moorings for 60 to 70 boats, there will be a jetty almost 100 yards long, slipway, undercover accommodation for at least six boats, fuel and provisions store. Work has already started and a channel is being cut to allow river access to both sides of the proposed jetty. The marina, planned to come into operation next spring will have a depth of 4ft 6in. Mr Cedar said a car park would also be provided. And he is turning a nearby 12-acre field into a golf driving range. “This will not be a money-making object but an extra facility for people coming to the marina”, he said. Y.The.K81	59.101	WLW.The.K81	The village’s sacrifices during the two World Wars are commemorated on the war memorial which in 1981 was in need of some attention: Little Thetford war memorial may be moved in a bid to protect it from attack by damp & fungus. The Parish Council is to appeal to village organisations to put up £12 towards the £240 needed to clean the memorial and replace lettering. Council chairman Mrs Elizabeth Veal says over the years a row of trees have kept the wind & sun off the memorial and so it has deteriorated with damp & fungus growing over it. They may perhaps move it to a better place in the cemetery. The club was started eight years ago, in a small room added on to the village hall, and now has more than 400 members. A local builder put up the brick shell and roof of the extension and then club members carried out most of the rest of the work. The club chairman, Mr Tony Badcock, said: “We still have a lot to do, and we are aiming to raise the money for new furniture. We shall probably need around £3,000” News 7th May 1981 neg1671.81.33

Y.Went.K66 59.156		Whilst other villages struggle to maintain their school or shop, for the villagers of the small hamlet of Wentworth it has been the church that has dominated their community struggles. In November 1966 workmen were busy redecorating the inside of the church. The rector, Rev J.A.R. Lisney said the oldest members of the congregation could not remember when it was last done – it might have been as far back as 1868.News 26th November 1966 neg 7679/D
Y.Went.K66 59.165		The redecoration was celebrated at a service in February 1967 when the Bishop of Huntingdon, Rev. Robert Martineau, making his first visit to the parish, praised their work. The collection at the service was devoted, not to parochial needs, but for church reformation in Aberfan, where coal waste had overwhelmed a school and houses in 1966, leaving 114 dead, including 116 children. News 29th November 1966 neg 7678/D
Y.Went.K87 59.278		More restoration was needed in 1987: Every time it rains, the congregation of a village church has to get out the buckets. Now they have started fund-raising in a race against time to repair the roof before it gets much worse. With winter approaching the parishioners of Wentworth fear that the bad weather will wreak havoc with St Peter's Church, parts of which date back to the 12th century. They are holding a fete at the village school to raise some of the £20,000 necessary to retile the roof. One of the organisers, Mrs Maureen Woodbine, said: "The roof is in desperate need of repair. If it rains we need several buckets to collect the water during the service". The priest in charge, the Rev Richard Mathews said the cost of the works depended on the kind of tiles chosen for the picturesque little church. Y.Went.K99 59.115		In 1999, the church was under threat of closure. By then the community had gained a parish council but it cost £2,400 a year to run the church & the village hall, which forms part of the church nave. A programme of events was put in hand to raise the money but village hall treasurer Ann Sinclair-Russell said it was reaching crisis point. She was pictured with Mary Macadie and Ian Howlett outside the church in June 1999. News 8th June 1999 neg 2321.99.11

Certain sections have been enlarged and improved to provide more parking and garage facilities. Its particularly attractive features are two very old carved ceilings in the residents' lounge and bar while gaily coloured umbrellas have appeared on the new fine paved courtyard. Y.Wilb.K51	263aLC122	WO.Wilb.K51	Wilburton Baptist people: Wilburton Baptist Church reopened after renovation and redecoration. The church was filled to capacity.Mr V.H. Warren, church secretary welcomed visitors and recalled three important occasions in its history: the centenary celebrations, in 1925 the opening of a new school room at the rear of the building and in 1945 the observance of the 100th anniversary. He gave a review of the extensive works that have been carried on doing the preceding months in connection with the renovation. At the close of the service most stayed to partake of an excellent tea prepared by the Baptist Women's League in St Peter's Hall. For the evening service the church was again filled and people who were unable to find room inside gathered in the school room at the rear where the service was relayed. 51 06 15ES

Judges say the long street contains a substantial public hall and fine buildings, some thatching was noticed. Glimpses of bright and well-kept gardens can be seen on either side when walking the pavement. The sports field is beautiful but surrounding farm property is not what it might be. Parish Council chairman, John Sneesby says "Residents are proud of their beautiful village and work very hard to take care of their houses, gardens, hedges and allotments" 63 09 07a neg Y838	2788

Y.Wilb.K71	60.359	WG.Wilb.K71	In April 1971 Wilburton village school said farewell to its headmaster: After a lifetime of teaching, the last 21 years as headmaster of Wilburton primary school, Mr Albert Gothard retires, aged 63. He has always concentrated on teaching children the basic skills before setting them free to discover things for themselves. "Young children like an atmosphere of discipline and showing off what they can do. Above all I think they like personal contact with the teacher", Mr Gothard said. This school interested him particularly because it was changing with the village with new families moving in. The children of these families often knew less than the village children, while being generally more intelligent. Wilburton was a village of honest, hard working people, who provided a good background for their children. News 2nd April 1971 neg 442/13

She is helped by her son Simon – now the village postman – and Anita Woods, and she enjoys every minute of her long working day. "So much has changed since I started. For one thing the fact that we are a post office as well as selling groceries has kept us going – the growth of supermarkets would have seen us off, I'm sure", she said. "Now it's just a matter of having grown up with all the people in the village and we are all friends. People come in all the time just for a chat. Wilburton is a wonderful village with a wonderful crowd of people". One person who agrees with that is Mrs Beryl Cornwell (no relation). "Her friendly, personal nature in running the store puts supermarkets to shame. She is always at the counter with a smile and always a good listener to customer's problems. Mr Pell, who was a solicitor in his early years moved to the village in 1917 and sold agricultural land to enable the low-cost rented housing to be built for local people. Known as Pell Cottages, they were granted special planning permission by East Cambridgeshire District Council. With some funding from The Housing Corporation the society hopes to provide more accommodation for people with housing needs. Mr Pell said: "I am proud that the cottages have been named after me. In 1947 representatives of the Education Committee met at Witchford Airfield, their aim being to consider the possibility of employing certain buildings to establish a secondary modern school to serve local villages. A start on the conversion of Nissen huts which once housed R.A.F. Bomber Command personnel was made in December 1949. The school was finally opened on April 9, 1951. The first phase of the permanent buildings consisting of a hall, a small hall, a gymnasium, kitchen & administrative accommodation was included in the 1960/61 building programme. The remainder of the new buildings followed next year and the school abandoned the last of the Nissen huts during the summer term of 1963. It was due to the leadership of the school’s first headmaster, the late Mr G. W. Dobson that the school established its place in the community it serves. The school is now housed in fine new buildings, which provide for the full range of secondary technical and modern accommodation News 1964 neg Z4179

They are angry because Cambridgeshire County Council first put forward plans for the by-pass five years ago – but nothing has happened since. Residents feel cheated and fobbed off. As part of the ceremony she rode a pony and trap on the route. The road was the last part of the county council's Fen Link Road scheme which over the past 12 years has involved by-passing 16 villages and towns on the A142, to open up the Fens for economic development. More than 100 of the 187 pupils, aged between four and 11, crossed the road twice a day. A petition had been handed over by villagers.
